Committee OK's Boost in Social Security Benefits

House Expected
To Consider Measure
Early in June

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Ways & Means Committee has paved the way for prompt House approval of most of President Eisenhower's proposals for increased benefits and broader coverage under the federal old age insurance program.

The committee gave its approval Friday to Mr. Eisenhower's recommendation for benefit increases ranging from $5 to $23.50 a month for retired workers. It previously had voted to extend old age insurance coverage to farmers, doctors, lawyers, dentists and others as the President had proposed.

Committee work on the Social Security measure — one of the major points in Mr. Eisenhower's legislative program — is expected to be completed next week. The House may consider the bill the first week in June.

At Friday's session the committee, in addition to voting the increases in benefits, made two other important decisions:

1. It agreed to the President's proposal to increase the wage base for Social Security tax purposes from the present $3,600 a year to $4,200 a year. This means that persons working as of Jan. 1, 1955, will have to pay Social Security taxes on the first $4,200 of income per year, instead of only $3,600.

2. It voted to continue for another year the present federal-state old age assistance matching formula. Present law provides for a $5 cut Sept. 1 in the federal contribution to the states for payments to the needy aged.

Under the benefit increases approved by the committee, the minimum payment to a retired worker would go from $25 to $30 a month. The maximum payment for a retired worker now on the roll would be increased from $85 to $98.50 a month, and the maximum for future beneficiaries would be increased from $85 to $108.50 a month.

The maximum family payment would be increased from $188.75 a month to $200.

Navy Calls Off Search for Three Missing in Crash

HONOLULU, T. H. (AP) — The Navy called off its day-long search for three missing crewmen of a crashed patrol bomber Friday night after four survivors said there was little hope of finding the others.

The Navy LST 975 reported it picked up the four survivors and the body of a fifth crewman. The ill-fated plane carried a crew of eight.

Survivors told Navy officers aboard the landing ship their two-engine Marlin P5M patrol plane broke into four pieces after hitting the water, bounding, and hitting again when the pilot tried to ditch the plane in the early morning darkness.

Pilot Lt. L. W. Remer, Imperial Beach, Calif., suffering exposure, but no apparent injuries.

Co-pilot Lt. (jg) J. A. Holmes, Huntsville, Ala., suffering exposure and fatigue.

Machinists Mate First Class H. R. James, Coronado, Calif., suffering minor abrasions and lacerations, fatigue, exposure and possible broken right leg.

Radioman Second Class R. W. Findly, hometown unavailable, condition good.

The survivors, who drifted for more than 11 hours in the ocean 400 miles northeast of Oahu, were transferred from the LST to the destroyer Radford. The destroyer was scheduled to arrive at Pearl Harbor today.

Coal Production Declines in April

SPRINGFIELD (AP) — The State Mines and Minerals Department coal production report today showed April production fell far short of output for March, 1954, and April, 1953.

The 2,893,503 tons mined in April was 615,245 tons less than production in March, 1954, and 207,973 tons below coal mined in April, 1953.

The report showed 13,516 working miners in 107 mines. In March the same number of mines employed 13,362 men. Of the 107 reporting mines, 34 were stop and 73 were shaft mines.

Fulton County led production with 424,831 tons, followed by Christian with 388,633 and Williamson with 360,819.

SALINE COUNTY OIL REPORT: Jones 1 Test Completed By Stelle Associates

By BOB SKEELS

Just west of Eldorado, John Stelle and associates have completed their No. 1 John J. Jones, pumping over 300 barrels of oil a day from the Waltersburg, Paint Creek and Aux Vases sand after fracturing all shows of oil.

Their No. 2 Jones, one location west, is cleaning out after fracturing the Aux Vases sand 2860-73 with no gauges available yet. The Waltersburg 2080-90, Tar Springs 2159-73 and Paint Creek sands 2603-50 all have commercial shows in them.

One location west of the above well, they are drilling ahead at 2910 after running a drill stem test of the Cypress sand on the Emil Choussier farm. It recovered 420 feet of gas, and 25 feet of slightly oil mixed mud. A test of the Tar Springs gassed in one hour and ten minutes and recovered 25 feet of gas mixed mud, with a slight show of oil.

Location for Communize Test — They have also staked a location 600 feet north of the discovery well (the No. 1 J. J. Jones) which will be a communize lease between J. H. Butler and Eugene Choussier in the SE SE NW, 20-28.

U.S. and Britain To Get Together On Policy Soon

WASHINGTON (AP) — Diplomats said today the United States and Britain may soon get together on Southeast Asia policy to end the most serious rift between the two countries in years.

They pointed to strong new indications that Britain might join the Southeast Asia anti-Communist alliance which this country has been urging as a necessary step to halt further Red aggression.

The problem may be threshed out at five-power military staff talks here on Indochina and Southeast Asia next week. The United States, Britain, France, Australia and New Zealand are scheduled to attend.

New Zealand's minister of external affairs, T. Clifton Webb, said his country wants to join the alliance as soon as possible and that he firmly believes Britain will join despite its present reluctance.

Webb, in this country on a visit, said he got the "impression" in recent talks with British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden that Britain and the United States have no "basic disagreement" on "the course of action that should be followed" in Southeast Asia.

American officials are hopeful that Eden's weekend trip from the Geneva conference to London for talks with Prime Minister Winston Churchill may mean a switch in British policy.

Unusual Interest Shown at Auto Show; 1,200 Persons Register

The Auto Show held Thursday and Friday on the north side of the square brought out unusual interest by the public in the new model automobiles shown.

Nearly all the dealers in town had from one to five or six models in the show and the predominance of color in the new cars was one of the biggest topics of conversation.

More than 1,200 persons stopped and saw the automobiles because that many registered for the three baskets of groceries.

Winners were Timmie Groves, 501 East Church street, Harrisburg; Isabelle Walters, Harrisburg Route 4; and Linda Mahan, Equality.

Linda Kay Sims of Harrisburg did the drawing.

Blankenship Well Completed — The same operators No. 4 J. H. Massey is still awaiting cable tools to complete in the Cypress sand 2550-61.

In the same area, Walter Duncan has completed his No. 1 Martin Blankenship, NW SW SE, 2-8-66 for an initial production of 105 barrels oil a day from the Cypress sand 2634-46 after fracturing.

George and Wrathe's No. 5 B. F. Lemons is pumping 40 barrels oil a day from the same Cypress sand after fracturing. Their No. 3 Earl and Sally Rhine is flowing an estimated 20 barrels oil per hour right after fracturing the Cypress sand.

In section 11-8-66, on the southwest edge of the field, Dee Miller got a dry hole on his No. 1 Jane Stafford, plugged and abandoned.

Death Takes Geo. Knickerbocker, 75, Of Carrier Mills

George Knickerbocker, 75, Carrier Mills, died yesterday at 1:30 p. m. at the Lightner hospital. Death was due to a heart condition.

He was a World War I veteran and a salesman by occupation.

Surviving are two children: Roger Knickerbocker, Carrier Mills, and Georgia Ruth Knickerbocker, Oak Park, and one brother, Bert Knickerbocker, Harrisburg.

The funeral will be Sunday at 2 p. m. at the Methodist church in Carrier Mills. Rev. Ernest Ammon will officiate, and burial will be in Sunset Lawn cemetery.

The body was taken from the Miller funeral home to the home of his son, Roger, on Route 45, Carrier Mills, to lie in state.

Palbearers will be "Duke" Fields, Pete Pyle, Granville Hill, Clayton Hutson, Cecil McNew and Claude McNew.

Moves Studebaker Sales to Original Exide Garage Building

Connie VanderPlum this week has been in the process of moving his Studebaker sales from the building recently bought from him by Dr. E. M. Travelstead.

He is moving his sales and parts department back into the original Exide garage building immediately to the south on Vine street which he has occupied for many years.

The parts room has been installed and an office will be constructed.

VanderPlum said he expected to be moved completely by Monday.

Sen. McCarthy to Ask Testimony Of Five Newsmen

Address Tonight
To Outline Work
Of His Committee

STURGEON BAY, Wis. (AP) — Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy said Friday night he will demand that five newsmen who "advised" Army counsel John G. Adams be called before the committee investigating the Army-McCarthy dispute.

He said he will also ask the committee to make public the transcript of its executive session last Monday. The Wisconsin Republican said the record would show "all senators" present deplored President Eisenhower's order restricting the testimony of Army witnesses.

McCarthy promised additional "previews" of his investigation strategy tonight, when he speaks at the annual Chamber of Commerce dinner at Fort Atkinson, Wis.

He said he would go back to the time he took over the Senate investigative committee, explain what his mission was, and relate its accomplishments. Then, he said, he will tell what he will do after the hearings about the dispute resume Monday.

McCarthy and his wife, Jean, flew here Friday night. Mrs. McCarthy, who still wears an elastic stocking to help her recover from a broken leg, was to christen a newtype LST vessel today.

McCarthy said the five newsmen he wants to see in the witness chair are Homer Bigart of the New York Herald Tribune, Murrey Marder and Alfred Friendly of the Washington Post and Times-Herald, Philip Potter of the Baltimore Sun and columnist Joseph Alsop.

The senator would not elaborate beyond his statement that the newsmen had "advised" Adams. However, he said Friendly had accompanied Adams on a plane ride.

He presumably referred to allegations that Adams let certain newsmen have a pre-release look at the Army's charges against McCarthy and committee counsel Roy M. Cohn.

Another hearing-room move, McCarthy said, will be a demand that the committee find and bring contempt charges against whoever leveled accusations against Francis Carr, the committee's chief of staff.

He said Carr had done "nothing wrong whatsoever" and "it would be a great victory for the Communists to knock off our chief of staff."

Lee Addresses New, Prospective Members Of The Illinois Bar

New members and prospective members of the bar in Illinois were addressed Tuesday and Thursday of this week by Attorney George B. Lee of Harrisburg, a member of the Illinois Board of Law Examiners.

At Urbana Tuesday evening, Mr. Lee tallied to the Senior law class at the University of Illinois.

He explained the procedures in taking the Illinois law examination, the next one of which will begin in Chicago September 20. Senior students from various colleges and universities over the state, who have finished academic requirements, will be eligible for the examinations.

Thursday, Mr. Lee spoke to a group of 185 who had passed the last law examination held a few weeks ago, and who were formally admitted to the Illinois bar by the Illinois Supreme Court at Springfield. A dinner, attended by candidates, members of their families, members of the Supreme Court and other dignitaries in the legal profession was held at the Springfield Elks club, followed by the formal admission ceremonies at the Centennial building.

To Begin Paving Mitchellville-Dixon Springs Road Next Week

Paving of the Mitchellville to Dixon Springs highway is expected to get under way next week, possibly by Wednesday, it was learned yesterday.

Right now the Groves Co., contractors, is putting a sub-base granular material on the roads and moving in forms for the paving job.

Paving will begin at the Eddyville blacktop road with construction proceeding southward, it was stated.

Lemay Says U. S. Bombers Can Destroy Targets Against Air Defenses Anywhere

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gen. Curtis E. Lemay says U. S. atomic bombers can fly "now" to any spot in the world in any kind of weather against any air defenses and destroy any targets assigned to them.

Lemay, blunt-talking, cigar-chewing boss of the Strategic Air Command, said his men and planes are in "instant readiness" to hit an enemy's air bases and atomic installations.

Such a blow, he said in a speech at an Armed Forces Chemical Association dinner Friday night, would smash the enemy's "striking power at its source in the earliest phase of the war."

Lemay said the SAC's rule is: "Be ready to fight now..." His remarks appeared to underscore the administration's "massive retaliation" policy designed to prevent global war if possible and win it if not.

The four-star general noted that "several hundred" bombers will be deployed to and from bases in England, North Africa, and the Far East in the next 45 days. Two squadrons of B36 superbombers—

Ex-Husband is Questioned in Woman's Murder

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Police planned to question again today the former husband of a wealthy woman who was strangled in a bedroom of her 16-room Civil War mansion where her aged mother was kept prisoner in a padlocked room.

Police emphasized, however, that no charge had been lodged against Francis L. Lisman, 65, a former newspaperman, Lisman who lived in a basement room in the three-story brownstone mansion, discovered his divorced wife's body Friday morning.

Mrs. Elvina Martell Lisman, 60, had been strangled with a venetian blind cord, police said. The same type cord had been used to bind her hands and feet.

Chief Inspector Albert Dubois said that discovery of the slaying led police to learn that the woman's mother, Mrs. Delinda Martell, 82, had been kept prisoner in one of the mansion's 16 rooms with nothing but a chair, a bed, an electric hot plate and a coffee pot during the past five weeks.

Lisman, who separated from his wife in 1948 and returned five weeks ago to the house, first said he was employed as an installment collector, Dubois was said. Later he told police he was on relief and following that, stated he was on pension, according to Dubois.

The woman's body was lying on the floor, fully clothed. The cord around her neck was so tight it was concealed from immediate view by flesh, police said. She also bore bruise marks on her face, indicating her killer may have knocked her unconscious, they added.

Her mother, who was examined at Philadelphia General Hospital and later transferred to a nursing home, owns the family's downtown produce business. It is operated by her son, Hamilton Martell, who was sentenced to jail for 60 days and fined $2,500 last week after pleading no defense to a charge of evading $10,200 in income taxes on his mother's 1945 income.

Evansville College President Quits During Dispute

EVANSVILLE, Ind. (AP) — Dr. Lincoln B. Hale resigned Friday as president of Evansville College during a controversy over the status of a member of the music department faculty who doubles as conductor of the city's philharmonic orchestra.

Hale quit effective June 8 when the school's Board of Trustees rejected his request for a one-year leave of absence to serve as director of the Foreign Operations Administration in Israel.

Hale has been head of the college since 1941.

It was not clear just what part, if any, the discharge of Minas Christian of the music faculty had to do with Hale's action.

However, earlier this week Hale informed Christian he would not be on the faculty next year. The action stirred a controversy because Christian doubled as conductor of the orchestra and his salary was shared by college and city under a time-honored custom.

Christian is believed to have irked college officials because he insisted on quality musicians in the orchestra and rejected applications of college students if he felt they did not qualify.

Trustees named Dean Long, vice president of the school for three years, as acting president pending selection of a successor to Hale.

Nation Blames Foreign Agents For Attempt

Nationality of Saboteurs is
Not Disclosed

GUATEMALA CITY, Guatemala (AP) — Army troops closed in today on "foreign saboteurs" wanted for attempting to blow up a train carrying newly-imported arms and ammunition to the capital's arsenal.

"The Army is following them closely and it is expected that they will be captured soon," Interior Minister August Charnau MacDonald said.

MacDonald said the agents "from another country" fled toward the border of Honduras after killing a Guatemalan soldier and wounding three others in a machinegun battle that followed the abortive sabotage attempt.

The interior minister said the "saboteurs" tried to blow up the train Friday by placing eight charges of TNT under a railroad bridge at Castaneda, 10 miles from Puerto Barrios, port of entry for the munitions which the U. S. State Department said had come from the Communist-controlled port of Stettin, Poland.

Denies Purchase from Reds — The TNT was detonated, MacDonald said, when the train crossed the bridge but only two charges exploded. Neither the train nor the bridge was damaged.

MacDonald also accused the "saboteurs" of cutting telephone and telegraph communications with Castaneda before planting the TNT.

During the course of the machine gun battle that followed, one saboteur was killed, he said.

MacDonald's announcement failed to identify the nationality of the "foreign" saboteurs.

The Guatemala foreign ministry formally denied Friday that the munitions shipment, estimated by United States intelligence at 1,900 tons and worth 10 million dollars, was purchased from Soviet Russia or Communist Poland.

At the same time, the foreign ministry said Guatemala enjoys the right to make defense purchases wherever it wishes.

House Catches Fire Just as Sale Deal Completed

CHAMPAIGN (AP) — A customer, a real estate agent and an attorney were shaking hands on a house deal Friday when somebody smelled smoke and the dwelling was found to be on fire.

James G. Larchmont, N.Y. City buyer Charles B. Younger, the real estate agent, and Atty. Burt Greaves ran to the blazing sun porch and Younger fought the fire with a garden hose until firemen came.

Couch, moving here to work at the National Petro-Chemical Plant at nearby Ficklin, had to catch a plane to New York a few minutes after the fire broke out. Smoke was still pouring from his new dwelling as he left.

Younger said the damage was about $3,000. He said repairs on the house would be started so Couch can move in on schedule. Firemen blamed defective wiring.

The previous owner and occupant, Dr. H. N. Greaves, the attorney's father, is in invalid bed and was carried from the burning house.

Radioactive Rain Again Hits Japan

TOKYO (AP) — Radioactive rain fell on Japan again today and Japanese scientists expressed belief the country is the victim of both American and Soviet atomic tests.

The Welfare Ministry ordered radioactive checks of drinking water in 13 major cities, including Tokyo and Osaka, and careful inspection and washing of vegetables and fruits.

Rites at Rosiclare

The funeral of Mrs. Marie Sullivan, Rosiclare, who died Wednesday in the Harlan County General hospital, was today at 1 p. m. at the Missionary Baptist Church in Rosiclare. The pastor, Rev. O. R. Gregg, officiated, and burial was in Carrsville, Ky.

Salesman is Killed in Crash Near Carmi

CARMI, Ill. (AP) — Ralph Dukeman, 23, Arcola, was killed instantly Friday night when his car went out of control 2½ miles north of Carmi on U. S. 460.

Dukeman, a salesman for the National Benefit Insurance Co. of Springfield, lost control and crashed into a group of trees while passing another automobile.

Receives 20 Years For Murder of Wife

CHICAGO (AP) — Vincent Cucci, 27, was sentenced to 20 years in prison Friday for the murder of his wife and ordered to stand trial in the deaths of their three children.

A jury of six men and six women had found Cucci guilty of the murder of his wife, Anne, 28. Judge John T. Dempsey sentenced him and instructed the state to proceed with the trial charging him with the murder of the children.

The bodies of the four were found, shot in the head, in the ruins of a fire in Cucci's apartment and grocery store Dec. 5, 1953.

A new type of battery is made of nickel cadmium and is one third to one half the size of standard lead batteries. Commercial tests show it works in any kind of weath-

instead of acid, and reportedly will last as long as an automobile itself.

Items of Agricultural Interest

BULLY TIME WAS HAD BY ALL—Pictured below are a bargain in Hereford bulls and one that brought a record price. They are two of 650 head of purebred stock sold at a recent auction to disperse the famous herd of Hillcrest Farms, Chester, W. Va., to settle the estate of the owner, the late C. A. Smith. The bargain is HC Larry Domino 12th (top) grand old sire of the herd and one of the greatest breeding bulls of all time. E. C. McCormick, of Medina, Ohio, bought a second half-interest in him for $52,500. A couple of years ago, he paid $105,000 for his first half-interest. Larry Domino, with whom McCormick is pictured, is the second highest living Register-of-Merit sire and has sired six International Champions. The world's record auction price of $100,000 was paid for the other bull, Hillcrest Larry 25th. Buyer was Ralph Fair, of Boerne, Tex. The bull is one of the youngest sires ever to get the Register-of-Merit designation. Mr. and Mrs. Fair are shown being congratulated by C. A. Smith, Jr.

HILLCREST LARRY DOMINO 12TH—Two half-interests in him totaled $157,500.

Cultivate, Mulch To Kill Garden Weeds

Cultivating and mulching are the most useful methods for fighting
weeds in the garden.

Norman Oehker, University of Illinois vegetable crops specialist,
says that so far chemicals have
not proved practical for home gardens.

Main objective of cultivating is to kill weeds, Oehker says. Don't cultivate too deeply, or you may damage the roots. Scraping is as good as deep cultivation. If you use a garden cultivator, cultivate very shallowly, especially close to the plants.

Mulching is also a good way to keep down weeds, and it will help to save the moisture too. Mulching is used for strawberries, tomatoes
and potatoes. You can use straw, burlap, paper or similar material.
If you use straw, put on two or three inches, and put it on before the plants start to spread. If any weeds do poke through, you can kill them easily with a hoe.

COOL AND CONVENIENT

A south-central Missouri poul-tryman has a system that enables him to load egg crates in only a few minutes. He included a basement cooling room in his new laying house, reports Capper's Farmer. There is an overhead door and concrete ramp, so he can back a pickup truck into the storage
room.

Include Poultry House in Fly Control Program

Include your chicken house in your fly control program this summer, and you will raise healthier
and more productive chickens.

Flies carry many diseases and
are also one of the chief spreaders
of poultry tapeworm eggs and segments. These internal parasites are also spread by beetles, roaches, ants and other insects.

Although tapeworms won't usually kill your poultry, they will reduce egg and meat production,
says Dr. N. D. Levine of the College of Veterinary Medicine at the University of Illinois.

There are several ways in which you can cut down on the fly population. Screen dropping boards and pits. Clean out the droppings often and use them as fertilizer on ground your poultry don't use. Rotate poultry yards and ranges every two or three months. Keep your laying house, feed and water
equipment clean.

You can make a good fly bait
by mixing two ounces of malathion in a gallon of syrup. Paint this mixture on light fixtures, around windows and in other places where flies gather in the poultry house.
One application may be all you'll need to make during the whole fly
season.

Call your veterinarian if you think that your poultry have worms. There's no way to get rid of tapeworms completely, but other worms can be controlled. Carbon tetrachloride, nicotine sulfate
and some other drugs will get rid of roundworms. Cecal worms can be controlled with phenothiazine.

Have Sweet Corn From Garden All During Season

You can have fresh sweet corn
from your garden for a longer time
this summer either by planting
several varieties with different maturity dates or by planting the same variety at several different times in the spring and early summer.

But B. L. Webster, vegetable crops specialist at the University of Illinois College of Agriculture,
says there are some disadvantages
to both plans.

If you plant several varieties at the same time, you'll have fresh corn for a longer time, but you'll still have the variety you like best
for only a few days.

If you make several plantings
of the same variety, warmer weather may cause the later planted
corn to mature faster than the earlier planted corn. A week's difference in time of planting may end up as only about two days' difference in time of maturity.

Today, further mechanization
and the full utilization of ever-known efficiency, has raised the per man output of bituminous coal in the U. S. to nearly 8 tons per man, per day.

Starter Fertilizer Isn't Enough For Corn Crops

CHICAGO—Don't rely on starter fertilizer alone to feed your corn crop all season long. You may need to supply additional nutrients to be sure of top yields and high quality, reports the Middle West Soil Improvement committee.

"Starter fertilizer is essential in getting your corn crop off to a fast start," says a statement issued by the committee, "but on most soils it can't do the entire nutritional job."

"G. E. Smith, University of Missouri agronomist, points out that the amount of plant food in all the starter fertilizer you can put on with a corn planter isn't sufficient to meet the crop's total
needs."

"If you depend on starter fertilizer alone, the crop may do fine
in the early stages, then starve
before maturity."

"A full feed of well-balanced nutrients is particularly important
during the major growth period of July and August. Then corn roots work around the clock pumping nutrients into the stalks, leaves and ears. A shortage of plant food at this critical state can mean poorly filled kernels, a big percentage of rubbings, low per acre
yields and no profits for your season's work."

"Your corn crop can be sure of having all the nutrients it needs
all season long if a complete fertilizer containing nitrogen, phos-

Pastures Are Good Feed for Dairy Cattle

Fresh, green pasture grass is a nearly ideal feed for dairy cattle.
Only high-producing cows will need a grain supplement when grazing on good-quality forage,
says J. G. Cash, University of Illinois extension dairy specialist.

Cash says many cows that have been properly fed during the winter should get ample feed nutrients from good pasture alone.
Cows in this group would be those in the lower testing breeds producing less than 30 pounds of milk
per day and cows in the higher testing breeds producing less than 20 pounds.

Feeding milk cows properly on pasture, however, is often difficult.
The quality of the forage changes
as the grazing season progresses.
Cash says dairymen can prevent slumps in production and income
by anticipating these changes and feeding additional roughage and grain. The big problem is to feed the additional grain or roughage
in the amount each cow needs.

Cash suggests feeding high-producing cows on good pasture approximately the following amounts of grain: Feed one pound of grain for each six pounds of milk
produced by cows of the lower testing breeds. One pound grain for each five pounds of milk produced per day should be sufficient for cows of the higher testing breeds.

A grain mixture containing 12
per cent of total protein or less is usually satisfactory for cows on good pasture. Old hay, when it is available, may be fed to cows on pasture, and salt should be kept
before the herd at all times.

Forage Scarce? Look Out for Poison Plants

Get rid of poisonous plants before you turn your animals onto pasture this spring, and you will save yourself a good deal of trouble.

Young cocklebur seedlings, water and poison hemlock, jack-in-
the-pulpit, pokeberry, jacksur,
buttercup, Dutchman's breeches,
oak leaves and black locust and Ohio buckeye sprouts, leaves, pods
and seeds cause the most trouble
in the spring when good forage is scarce.

These plants grow anywhere
your livestock are likely to graze.
You can prevent poisoning by pulling them out, spraying them
with chemical weed killers or fence-ing them off before livestock can eat them, says Dr. R. P. Link of the University of Illinois College of Veterinary Medicine.

Poisoned animals are usually listless, lose weight, have a hard time breathing, become bloated and may have convulsions. Since these symptoms are also found in many diseases, have your veterinarian decide what the trouble is as quickly as possible after the symptoms appear.

You can learn to identify poisonous plants by writing to the College for Circular 509, "Illinois Plants Poisonous to Livestock."
This booklet describes and has pictures of more than 40 of these plants.

SIU Country Column

By Albert Meyer

May is the month to talk about strawberries. When berries are ripening is a good time to visit experimental stations and variety
testing plots such as those at the Illinois Horticultural Experiment Station located at Southern Illinois University. Here such characteristics as plant vigor, foliage,
production volume in berries and plants, and berry size, color, flavor, carrying quality, and ripening
characteristics may be seen side by side and compared. All these characteristics, naturally, should be considered by the person who is planning berry plantings for next spring.

A treat for persons who enjoy fresh strawberries throughout the year would be frozen berries kept in the home freezer. Try slicing fine ripe fruit and mixing with sugar at the rate of three parts of fruit and one of sugar before putting in the freezer. The time to store is while the fruit is in season.

The season of lush growth in pastures and meadows is at hand.
Don't let any of the grass go to waste. If more is available than livestock is able to consume, make grass silage. If pinched for grass silage storage facilities, have a trench silo scooped out of a slope near the barnyard in a hurry and fill it with surplus chopped green grass.

The best bet for good pasture
management is to divide the field with temporary electric fences and practice rotation grazing. Let cattle on an area only large enough to carry them for a few days at a time. When that area has been grazed down, switch to another area, giving the grazed strip an opportunity to revive. This procedure keeps the pasture growth
fresh and vigorous.

Days of summer heat will be arriving with more frequency soon.
The dairy farmer needs to be thinking about shade for the milk cows. It is needed because production generally goes down when the temperature goes above 80 degrees. Having shade available for the milk cows during the heat of the day will help prevent this decline.

The word to dairy farmers still is to cull the herd heavier than usual if there is to be a decent profit in the face of continued relatively high production costs. Farm managers at SIU believe that income to dairymen during 1954 will drop about 10 per cent because of increasing milk output and a drop in price support to 75 per cent of parity. The need is for higher production per animal to get unit costs down in comparison to the income.

A parting hint on ornamental
shrubs around the home. If spi-
rea is too high the time to prune is immediately after the shrub has finished blooming. Prune the stems back to a vigorous lateral so that the shrub will make ample growth to produce next year's blooms. Light pruning annually is better than pruning heavily only occasionally.

You Can Prevent Dysentery in Pigs

You can lose more than half of your young pig crop if dysentery
strikes this year, and there's no
vaccine to prevent this bacterial disease.

Dr. L. E. Boley of the University of Illinois College of Veterinary Medicine says the best way to prevent dysentery is to keep your lots and pens clean and well drained. Keep new pigs away from the rest of your herd for a month after you buy them to be sure they don't have any disease.

Call your veterinarian if you notice that any of your pigs are sick or have a bloody diarrhea containing shreds of tissue from their intestines. Move your healthy pigs to clean quarters. Clean and disinfect the old quarters and equipment before you restock.

Your veterinarian may be able to save infected pigs with some of the new sulfa drugs and antibiotics if he begins treatment early enough. However, most pigs that recover will be stunted and unthrifty. It's best to market these recovered pigs, since they may pass
the disease on to your healthy animals, Dr. Boley advises.

Corn Spraying May Cut Time For Cultivation

CARBONDALE, Ill.—Spraying
with 2-4-D herbicide may be used to reduce the number of cultiva-tions needed to control weeds in corn but cannot be expected to replace cultivation, says E. F. Sullivan, agronomist at Southern Illinois University. Some weeds are not controlled by the chemical.

The herbicide may be used either before or after the corn comes up. A pre-emergence application will effectively control some annual grasses and broad-leaved weeds
if made before the grass emerges
and the soil is moist enough to cause corn germination within 10 days. Use not more than one and one-half pounds of ester type 2-4-D per acre and do not apply after corn leaves unfold.

Post-emergence spray applications may be made relatively safely from time the corn leaves unfold until tasseling begins. Applications should not exceed a quarter pound of acid of ester or a half pound of acid of the amine type 2-4-D, Sullivan says. If a dense growth of weeds is expected to follow the last cultivation, one pound of 2-4-D acid per acre may be applied directly to the soil to prevent emergence of weeds. Keep as much of such spray as possible off the corn plant.

Post-emergence spraying will cause some injury to corn. The most serious is brittleness and bending or breakage of corn stalks.
Little risk is involved, however, if application recommendations are followed. The best idea, he says, is to time spray treatments to give complete and early control of weeds.

British coal production in 1953

that year.

COLUMBIA AG LIMESTONE

Neutralizes the acids in the soil. Calcium Carbonate is the standard measure for soil acid neutralizing value of LIMESTONE.

BENEFITS OF LIMESTONE

1. Sweetens the soil.
2. Supplies Calcium and Magnesium essential to plant growth.
3. Furnishes an abundant supply of Calcium for legume crops, thereby saving Potash in the soil.

COLUMBIA 2200 LIMESTONE — It's new in '54. It's 20% finer than 200 mesh, giving you more fine, powdery limestone that will act quicker in neutralizing soil acidity.

COLUMBIA AG LIMESTONE IS HIGH IN CALCIUM with sufficient
Magnesium Carbonate for any soil.

Evansville Man
Charged with Stealing
$1,000 Diamond Ring

EVANSVILLE, Ind. (UP)—Wallace W. Merrick, 34, Sunday school treasurer at the First Baptist Church, today faced a grand larceny charge in the theft of a $1,000 diamond ring from a home in which he was working.

Police said Merrick first was questioned about the $2,900 Easter Sunday robbery of Alfred Rose, church treasurer, by a gunman who accosted Rose on the steps of the church.

Merrick then was accused of stealing the ring from the home of Mrs. Darwin M. Heston while working as an electrician.

Authorities have charged Raymond A. Johns, Kokomo, with the robbery. They said Johns and Merrick became acquainted while serving sentences in the Indiana Reformatory.

JOYCE DUNN, HTHS senior who won first place in the annual short-hand contest and received recognition for this accomplishment on Honor Day Monday.

Theta Rho Girls Honored
At Rebekah Dinner Party

A lovely dinner party was held Tuesday, May 18, by the Pride of Arrow Rebekah lodge, No. 234, in honor of the Theta Rho girls' club No. 8.

The long table covered with white linen was beautifully decorated with fraternal colors of pink and green. Pink candles in crystal holders lighted the table, and a lovely centerpiece of spring flowers and pink roses was arranged by Mrs. Bess Hagler. Miniature umbrellas held green mints and place cards.

As the girls found their places they stood around the table and were welcomed by the noble grand of the lodge who gave "thanks."

Miss Mildred Saver presented the president of Theta Rho, Miss Carolyn Wilson, who gave a response to the welcome and expressed her appreciation of the fraternal organization which sponsored the club.

Miss Benita Chester gave a humorous reading, Miss Nancy Fulkerson played a piano selection, and Miss Judy Moore read several lovely poems.

The Theta Rho girls were organized last year when Mrs. Madge Johnson was assembly president. It is a junior girl branch of Rebekah Odd Fellowship of Illinois, and Harrisburg is the first to have a Theta Rho club in this district.

Those present for the dinner were Jean Keltner, Joyce Dunn, Peggy O'Neal, Carol Sanderson, Barbara Upchurch, Barbara Dunn, Dorothy Winkelman, Benita Chester, Janice Stiff, Carolyn Price, Martha Gibbs, Carolyn Herron, Judy Morse, Frances Hamp, Dorothy Fulkerson, Nancy Fulkerson, Carolyn Wilson, Elaine White-side and Janice Phelps.

Miss Saver and Mrs. James Saver, as leaders, have done commendable work in organizing the club.

Union Chapel Presbyterian
Volunteer Class Has Meeting

The volunteer class of Union Chapel Cumberland Presbyterian church met Saturday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jewell Jackson, RFD 1 Galatia, for the regular meeting.

The teacher, Grover Clayton, was able to attend after having been absent for several months with a heart ailment.

Vola Sittig gave the devotion for the evening and Mrs. Dean Guy led in prayer. Following the business meeting, conducted by the president, Paul Drott, Mr. Jackson was in charge of a Bible quiz. Mrs. Bill McElrath won the prize.

Refreshments were served to the following: Mr. and Mrs. Paul Holland and son, Mr. and Mrs. Vola Sittig and sons, Mr. and Mrs. Dean Guy and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Reginald Riegel and children, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Drott and children, Mr. and Mrs. Grover Clayton, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Allen, Mr. and Mrs. James Allen and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Bill McElrath and children and the host and hostess, Mr. and Mrs. Jackson and children.

The June meeting will be at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Vola Sittig.

Announce New Way To Shrink Painful Piles

Find Healing Substance That Does Both—
Relieves Pain—Shrinks Hemorrhoids

NEW YORK, N. Y. (Special)—For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids and to stop bleeding without surgery.

In one hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by doctors' observations.

Pain was relieved promptly. And, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.

And most amazing of all — this improvement was maintained in cases where doctors' observations were continued over a period of many months!

In fact, results were so thorough that sufferers were able to make such astonishing statements as "Piles have ceased to be a prob-

First Baptist W. M. S.
Has Royal Service Meeting

"Wouldn't you like to go to school again?" was the invitation sent out to all members of the Women's Missionary Society for the Royal Service meeting at the First Baptist church Thursday afternoon, May 20. The theme of the afternoon's program was "Education for Truth in South America" and the invitations were in the form of "little red schoolhouses" — on cardboard, of course.

An executive board meeting, presided over by the president, Mrs. O. C. Heatherly, immediately preceded the Royal Service meeting, and in the business meeting in the first portion of the afternoon's service several recommendations brought by the executive board were accepted by the members present.

At this time Mrs. D. H. Hiller read a letter from Miss Isabelle Crawford, retired missionary to the Indians of Oklahoma, in which she spoke of her work there up until she retired at age 65. Miss Crawford is now 88 years old, residing with nieces in Ontario, Canada, confined to a wheel chair or crutches, almost deaf and entirely blind. Nevertheless she was able to write a most interesting letter. The letter had been written to Mrs. W. H. Lamer of St. Louis county, a niece of Mrs. Olive Blackman, and Mrs. Lamer had very graciously consented to allow Mrs. Hiller to have the letter to read to those present at the Royal Service meeting. Mrs. Lamer had written Miss Crawford telling her how much her book, "Joyful Journey," had been enjoyed by Mrs. Lamer. "Joyful Journey" is in the church library, a book telling of the experiences of Miss Crawford during her many years as a missionary to the Indians, and everyone was especially eager to read it, feeling that now Miss Crawford is a well-known friend.

The Blanche Simpson circle, with Mrs. D. H. Hiller as teacher, presented the program which was given as a class presenting a combined history and geography lesson. With a large colored map of South America before them each one taking part pointed out the location of the city of which she was speaking and told of the Baptist schools in that place and their work among the people. These schools range all the way from kindergartens to theological seminaries and are located in the countries of Argentina, Brazil, Chile, Colombia, Uruguay and Venezuela, with the oldest school at Recife, Brazil having been established 50 years ago and the newest at Cali, Colombia which has recently begun its work.

The chorus "Into My Heart" was sung in Spanish by Mrs. Herman Davis, W. M. S. chorister, and Mrs. Hiller read a poem written by a South American missionary which portrayed a little South American boy and all his ambitions for the things he would do when he was a big "hombre." Others taking part on the program were Mrs. Paul Hays, Mrs. L. F.

Sunshine Club Has
Picnic At Karel Park

The Raleigh Sunshine club met Tuesday, May 18, at Karel park for a picnic with 11 members and six visitors present.

A delicious dinner was served at noon.

The vice president, Mrs. Roy Mings, was in charge of the business meeting, which opened with the group singing the theme song. The devotion was given by Mrs. Myra Weir who read from the 118th chapter of Psalms. Mrs. Cora Naugle led in prayer, and roll call was answered with a scripture verse.

Games were played, and prizes awarded to Mrs. Mings, Mrs. Jones and Miss Zella Greenfield. Each one present received a gift from Mrs. Keturah Lasseter.

The following were present: Mesdames Cora Naugle, Keturah Lasseter, Opal Wiseman, Myra Weir, Emma Hall, Edna Lasseter, Dora Mings, Opal May Wiseman, Lizzie Jones, Teora and Zella Greenfield, and visitors, Mr. and Mrs. Forest Jones, Esco Wiseman, Bob Wiseman, Ira Wiseman and son, Terry.

The June meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Opal May Wiseman.

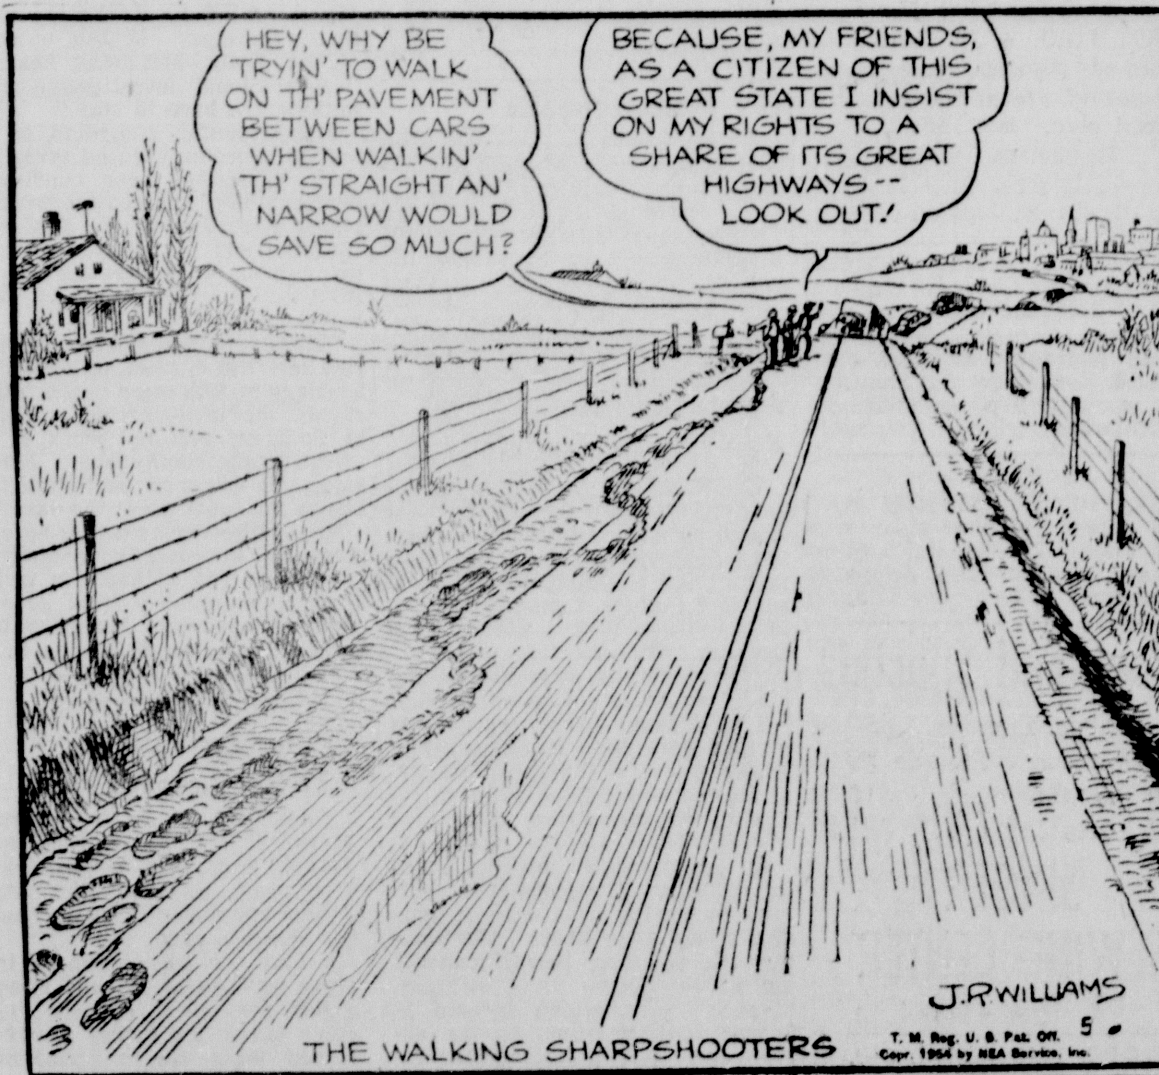

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Huston have returned from Pontiac, Mich., where they visited their son, Ernest, and daughter-in-law, Lavern, who were injured in an auto accident. They also visited Ernest's twin brother, Earl Huston and family, and another son, Jerry, and daughter-in-law, grandchildren and a great-grandchild they had never seen. Following their visit in Michigan they went to Brooklyn, N. Y., to visit their son-in-law, Lt. Col. C. J. Jorgenson, and daughter, Mary. In New York several of the famous places that they visited were the Statue of Liberty, Empire State building, Bronx Zoo, Brooklyn Bridge and Governor's Island.

Miss Jean Garrison, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herschel Garrison, 31 West O'Gara street, Harrisburg, was named the winner of the Ruth Muse Memorial award for most outstanding record in pediatric nursing at graduating exercises of St. Luke's Hospital School of Nursing, St. Louis, on May 20. Miss Garrison is a member of a graduating class of forty-one.

Mrs. Leroy Barham, RFD 1, is in Marion with her mother, Mrs. Isam F. Harrison, who fractured her hip in a fall last Saturday. Mrs. Harrison is confined to Memorial hospital there.

Jeff Chandler presents Maureen O'Hara with his sabre, in a scene from Universal-International's "War Arrow," in Technicolor to show at the Grand Sunday and Monday.

THE STORY: Lenny Dahlstrom, bride of Tom Dahlstrom, feels that she cannot win the approval of her mother-in-law with whom the young couple lives. Therefore, an opportunity to become a substitute teacher at the high school in the Wisconsin town near the Dahlstrom farm comes as a welcome chance to be away from unpleasant surroundings a few hours a day.

Recalling how delightful practice teaching had been, Elaine was eager to arrive at the school and begin the afternoon. Her eagerness soared higher when Mr. Connors led her into the modern sewing room, where she hung up her coat, and then took her into the sterile white kitchen on the second floor of the new addition to the school building.

Miss Erickson turned from the dishwasher when they entered. She wasn't much older than Elaine, slender, blonde and as harried looking as Mr. Connors.

Her eyes sparkled, nonetheless, when she acknowledged the introduction. "Welcome to Rudeville High," she said, without pausing to take a breath. "Especially to the home ec department. It's all yours, believe me. I prefer Shakespear to crepes Suzette, even though my students don't. I'm glad Mr. Dahlstrom brought you home in time to save the future homemakers of Rudeville. Just call me Marion."

Elaine liked her immediately. "My first name is Elaine," she smiled.

"Friends call you 'Lenny,' I suppose."

Elaine nodded. "We probably will attain that stage of mutual regard quickly," she said, indicating the clutter of unwashed pots and pans. "If I relieve you of this."

Marion slipped off her plastic apron and held it out. "We could. The students are beginning to get ahead of me. Your next class is at two. Sewing Mrs. Farrell's schedule is posted upstairs. I, myself, would welcome any suggestion for the minstrel show which comes off in two and a half weeks. I'm supposed to be superintendent."

n't quite believe it. "Where did you learn to dance?"

"My dad. He could do all the corny ones. The Highland Fling. Irish hop. Soft shoe. Jig. For laughs, you know."

"Corny!" Marion exclaimed. "You ungrateful daughter. Can you do them all?"

Elaine cocked her head and pursed her lips uncertainly. "Well..."

In Memoriam
In memory of Wendell Elms, who passed away six years ago today, May 22, 1954.
The depths of sorrow we cannot tell.
The loss of one we loved so well, And while he lies in peaceful sleep
His memory we shall always keep.
Sadly missed by Mother, Father, Mr. and Mrs. Will Elms, Wife, Children, Brother and Sisters.

In Memoriam
In loving memory of Barbara Nell York, who passed away four years ago, May 23, 1950.
We miss you in the morning, dear, When all the world is new.
We know the day can bring no joy, Because it brings not you.
We miss the well-known voice of you, Your tender loving smile.
The youth of you—the charm of you, Your gladness all the while.
The world is full of folks, 'tis true, But there was only one of you.
Sadly missed by the Family.

In Memoriam
In remembrance of our dear brother and son, Wendell W. Elms who passed away on May 22, six years ago.
The years may wipe out many things, But this they'll wipe out never, The memory of those happy days When we were all together.
We think of him in silence, His memory we oft recall.
But there's nothing left to answer But his picture on the wall.
Just when his life was brightest, God called him from among us.
To a home of eternal rest.
Sadly missed by Mom, Dad, Brother and Sisters. Mr. and Mrs. Jack Rose.

Minor Collision
By Army Transport

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Army announced today the SS General Black, an Army transport en route from Pusan to the West Coast with servicemen returning from Korea, suffered "minor damage" May 20 in a collision with a Chinese Nationalist LST.

"There were no casualties of any kind," an Army spokesman said. The General Black, which was at that time close to the coast of Japan, put in at the Japanese port of Sasebo to have its damages repaired, the spokesman said.

An automobile muffler, now available as a replacement unit, muffles engine noise with strands of chopped glass fibers. The glass threads, however, permit exhaust gases to follow a "straight-through" path, which is said to reduce back pressure on the engine and yield a horsepower increase.

White House Party Planner Now Has Her Own Affair

By PATTI SIMMONS
NEA Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON (NEA)—In 25 years as social secretary to the wives of three Presidents, Mrs. Edith Benham Helm has probably arranged more White House parties than anyone else living.

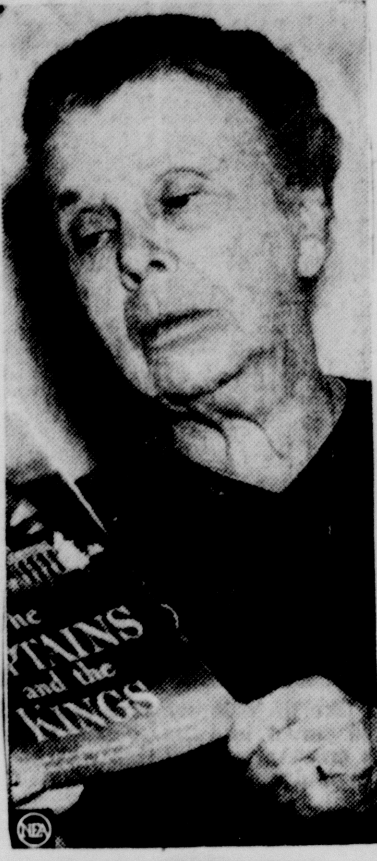

Widow of an admiral, Mrs. Helm has had a hand in planning affairs that brought at least half a million people to the White House. But right now, for a change, she's on the other end of party-giving.

Her three former bosses, Mrs. Woodrow Wilson, Eleanor Roosevelt and Bess Truman, pulled a neat social switch recently. They went to a party in honor of Mrs. Helm.

"I celebrated her first book, 'The Captains and the Kings.' The 3-D invitation line-up (Democrats were that deep) also included ex-President Truman, daughter Margaret, and Perle Mesta.

Besides interesting anecdotes about the Wilson, Roosevelt and Truman eras, the book paints a first-hand picture of party-giving at the White House.

"I remember hearing that a tape measure was brought out before one diplomatic dinner," Mrs. Helm writes, "to make sure the representative of one country which hated another was precisely placed in point of inches from the host so that neither could have the slightest advantage in sitting closer to the President.

EDITH BENHAM HELM: A tape measure for protocol.

"We who worked together on White House entertaining," she declares, "liked to think of a state dinner as similar to a theatrical performance."

People arrived before the appointed hour and were ushered into the East Room, almost as in a theater. Then the 8 o'clock curtain went up as the procession of guests entered the dining room and dinner was served.

Weeks before the party a list of "must" official guests was prepared by Mrs. Helm. The President and his wife then added names of others, plus personal friends, before approving the final list.

With each invitation dispatched three weeks before the party there went a response card, an admit card, plus a gate card for the guest's automobile.

In the days when response cards read "Please reply to the Chief of Protocol," Mrs. Helm recalls receiving one return envelope addressed to "The Office of the Protocolariat, The White House, Washington."

Escort and place cards were prepared to show each guest with whom to walk into the dining room and where to sit. A large table plan also was displayed in the White House entrance lobby.

To make doubly sure all went smoothly, an usher instructed each gentleman on arrival how to reach his place at the table. This escort-card operation is also used by the Eisenhower White House.

Do White House invitations mean more to women than to men? Yes, is Mrs. Helm's guess. She believes many men are "dragged" to official functions as "unwilling victims."

Back in the 1934-35 season, Mrs. Helm recalls, there were so many diplomats that FDR restricted the diplomatic reception to official guests only. One woman, a haughty Mrs. Helm on the phone for half an hour when she was removed from the list, then followed up with a letter of complaint to Mrs. Roosevelt.

However, only a small percentage made life difficult for a White House social secretary, she reveals.

"It was almost like a phonograph record to hear over many years the cry from this group, 'But I have always been on the White House list for this reception!'"

Another hazard of entertaining at 1600 Pennsylvania Avenue was souvenir hunters. The larger the group, she says, the more likely that someone would tuck away a silver teaspoon.

Once, after a certain "nameless" group was received, every spoon had disappeared. In more recent administrations, points out Mrs. Helm, the problem has been solved by the use of plain napkins and spoons, minus embroidery and engraving.

Red Sox Rookie Beats Yankees, 6-3; Cardinals Win, 8-7, in 10 Innings

By CARL LUNDQUIST
United Press Sports Writer

For the third time in four years today, the Red Sox came up with a rookie pitcher who refuses to be awed by the almighty world champion Yankees.

The latest Yankee tamer is Frank Sullivan, a 6-foot, 6-inch right hander from California, who struck out nine of them and pitched a seven-hit 6-3 victory for the last-place Bostonians before 30,119 astonished fans in Yankee Stadium Friday night.

In 1951 it was Leo Kiely, who arrived in the stadium as an unseasoned rookie and twirled a similarly neat seven-hitter to beat the Yankees in his debut in the big pop-fly palace. In 1952, Dick Brodowski, now in the Army, came in and stood off the Yankees with a four-hitter in his first look at them.

But Sullivan's effort was the most impressive of all. It was his first victory of the season and his first complete game in four years. Six of the nine batters he struck out were left handers and he walked only one man.

Boston clinched the victory with a six-run rally in the sixth when 11 men went to bat. Harry Agganis hit the big blow, a three-run homer.

Indians Stretch Lead
Cleveland made it eight victories in a row and took a two-game first place lead over the Yankees when Early Wynn pitched a five-hit, 2-1 victory over Baltimore, while Chicago blanked Detroit, 8-0, on Bob Keegan's three-hitter and Washington topped the Athletics, 7-3, as Bob Porterfield won his fifth game.

In the National, the Cardinals stayed 1 1/2 games ahead in first place with an 8-7, 10-inning victory in which Stan (The Man) Musial hit a grand slam homer, his 14th round tripper of the year. Robin Roberts of the Phils beat the Giants, 8-1, with a six-hitter and the Dodgers came from behind to top Pittsburgh, 3-2, while Milwaukee beat Chicago in a battle of homers, 6-4.

Loser Duane Pillette gave up only two hits in seven innings for Baltimore. Al Rosen drove in the winning run for the Indians with a single. Dick Kryhoski stole Wynn's shutout with a ninth-inning homer, his first of the year.

Keegan's victory was his sixth and his second shutout. Cass Michaels drove in three Chicago runs with two hits and Sherm Lollar got two singles.

Athletics Drop Seventh
Porterfield, who had driven 382 miles from the bedside of his sick wife, stuck it out for a strong nine and was scored on only in one inning, the fourth. Pete Runnels paced the 11-hit Washington attack, driving in three runs with a triple and single as the A's lost their seventh straight.

Singles by rookie Tom Alston and Rip Repulski drove in two Cardinals runs in the 10th after Cincinnati had gone ahead with an unearned run in the top of the inning. Jim Greengrass hit a Cincinnati homer.

The Phils made six straight hits, good for five runs, in the first inning knocking out starter Johnny Antonelli of the Giants as Willie Jones paced their 13-hit attack with three singles and Earl Torgeson drove in three runs with a double and single. It was Roberts' fifth victory.

Bums Edge Pirates
Junior Gilliam, benched for not hitting, came in with a pinch single to drive home Brooklyn's winning run as the Dodgers came from behind. Peevée Reese hit a home run earlier to offset a homer by Bob Skinner of the Pirates.

A two-run homer by Hank Aaron in the eighth gave Gene Conley of the Braves his third victory at Chicago. Johnny Logan and Del Crandall also hit Milwaukee homers while Ralph Kiner and Dee Fondy homered for the Cubs.

Friday's Star: Frank Sullivan of the Red Sox, who struck out nine and scattered seven hits in a 6-3 victory over the world champions in his debut at Yankee Stadium.

Stock Car Racing
The third session of stock car racing for the 1954 season is scheduled for this evening at the Saline county speedway and with a break in the weather racing fans should be in for a fine evening.

In the two previous programs, Saturday May 8 and 15, the weather wasn't just right for spectator sports — too cool for enjoyment the opening night and still on the cool side last Saturday.

However, the racing has been very good, above the average for the local track, which is starting its third season. There have been twenty cars ready for the opening event each night and officials expect as many entries tonight.

Time trials start at 7:30 with regular racing at 8.

Correlation Is Favored in Preakness Run

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP)—Correlation, who missed connections in the Kentucky Derby, was favored to make a non-stop trip to gold and glory today in the 78th running of the $100,000 added Preakness at Pimlico.

The handsome bay colt from California was held in the same high esteem three weeks ago in the Derby but was bumped off his course during the early running and never recovered, finishing a disappointing sixth.

However, Maryland hardboots are convinced that this time Correlation will steer clear of trouble, just as he did in his neck-length victory over Hasty Road in the Preakness prep last Monday, and confidently installed him a 7-5 choice over 10 rivals in the mile and three-sixteenths triple crown classic.

The odds on the other starters were Hasty Road, 5-2; Goyamo, 8-1; Jet Action, 8-1; Hasseyampa, 10-1; Ring King, 15-1; Admiral Porter, Gigantic, Nirgal Lad, and For Free at 30-1. Galdar was 50-1.

The only true notables among the three year olds missing from the Preakness were Determine, winner of the Kentucky Derby; Porterhouse, the outstanding two year old of last year, and Turn-To. The odds indicated clearly that bettors expected a two horse affair between Correlation and Hasty Road, but Ring King, Goyamo, Hasseyampa and Jet Action also were certain of support.

The track was "good" Friday night and was expected to be "fast" for the Preakness, with fair weather in sight.

A crowd of from 25,000 to 30,000 was expected to witness the classic. Post time is 5:45 p. m. E.D.T. The race will be nationally broadcast and televised from 5:30 to 6:30.

Seats Hurls No-Hitter As Anna Wins Sectional Baseball Tournament

DU QUOIN, Ill. (AP)—Gene Seats pitched a no-hitter Friday as Anna-Jonesboro beat Flora, 4-1, to win the Du Quoin high school sectional baseball tournament.

Flora scored its lone run on a walk and two errors in the first inning. Anna came back to tie the game in the fourth and won in the sixth on a successful bunt. Seats' double, two walks and Bill Meyers' two-run single.

Seats pitched 32 2-3 scoreless innings in district and sectional tournament play.

Pierre Langlois Wins Upset Over Giardello

NEW YORK (AP)—Pierre Langlois, upset conqueror of top middleweight contender Joey Giardello, planned today to return soon to France and wait there for a shot at the world title.

Hero of the third major French upset in eight days, Langlois said he would not grant a third "rubber" match to young Giardello of Philadelphia, whom he floored and outpointed in their TV-radio return bout at Madison Square Garden Friday night.

The defeat knocked Joey out of a title shot in October.

Pierre, who had lost a close decision to Giardello nearly two years ago, will post a $2,500 challenger's check with the New York Boxing Commission Monday and then await the outcome of the Bobo Olson-Rocky Castellani title fight at San Francisco in August.

Claims "Mental Letdown" Giardello, the 5-1 favorite, declared, "I want a rubber match with Langlois. I beat him once, and I would have again last night if I hadn't suffered a mental letdown because Castellani got the August title fight with Olson instead of me."

Giardello, 23, claimed he was "right physically" for Friday night's 10-round before 3,231 fans, "but my heart just wasn't in the fight." He said he had been completely disgusted since last Monday's Olson-Castellani announcement, even though promised an October shot.

Unranked Langlois, scaling 159 1/2 pounds to Giardello's 160 1-2, floored Joey in the ninth round and out-fought him in the second, third, sixth and seventh to win the unanimous decision. It snapped Joey's winning streak at five straight.

The ninth-round knockdown practically assured Langlois of victory. He wound up with the three ring officials favoring him on rounds as follows: Referee Ruby Goldstein, 5-4-1; Judge Jack Gordon, 6-3-1; Judge Artie Aidaia, 6-3-1. The United Press agreed, 5-3-2.

Merchants to Play Colored Nine At Uniontown, Ky.

The Harrisburg Merchants travel to Uniontown, Ky., Sunday to engage the colored Kentucky Cardinals of "Stumpy" Harris.

Harris, who has been in semi-retirement since the war years, has emerged with another good colored ball club of the kind many local fans will remember.

The locals will enter the game with a 5-2 record for the young season and should be stronger with the return of Joe Yarbber who is expected to start on the hill. The Merchants have also added hill strength with the addition of Glen Ewell and Gene Trammel, two well known hurlers in this area. Val Gribble, one of last year's ace out-fielders and top hitter, reported for practice last week and will probably be in the lineup by May 30.

Harrisburg's starting lineup will be shaken up somewhat by the absence of Dick Odle. The starting lineup will probably be Freddie Williams 2b, Romonosky c, Gully 3b, Dunbar 1b, Bob Williams rf, McNew ss, Parton lf, Logsdon cf, and Yarbber or Ewell p.

Soap Box Races To Begin Tomorrow

The kiddies' soap box races will start in Harrisburg tomorrow.

Larry Bennett, president of the association, said the races would be run on Cherry hill starting at two o'clock.

He said a lot of kids have their cars ready for this opening event. About ten races will be run tomorrow but it is hoped that there will be about 20 contests later on.

Two little girls left alone! It sounds like the beginning of a sad story.

But look again. There are certainly no tears. There is a comfortable home; and pretty clothes.

But these children have been given a great deal more than the ordinary comforts of life. There in the older child's hand is a book, "The Story of Jesus."

How reassuring to see that they have been given the advantages of a Christian training. Somehow all doubt has been removed from their minds. We feel that these little girls will be safe—not only during this one evening, but through their entire lives.

All of us want our children to be shielded from life's hardships and temptations, but we can guarantee no such protection. Our surest course is that we rear them in a Christian atmosphere, sending them to Daily Vacation Church School and taking them to the services of the Church regularly. Then, and then only, will we know that we have done everything in our power for their future success, happiness and salvation.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

By WILLIAM E. GILROY, D. D.
In the Israel of long ago there were good kings and evil kings, though I think the evil kings were in the majority. And some who began well, even like Solomon, turned out bad.

And prophets loomed large in the life of the times. But some were false prophets, men of God, who fearlessly spoke as they believed and had honest vision.

Kings feared the true prophets, and even the powerful King Jeroboam sent his wife in disguise to sound out the prophet Ahijah, when the King's son was sick (I Kings 14). The power that true prophets exercised led false prophets to prophesies for their own aggrandizement or gain.

Here was the difference: The true prophets were as honest as they were fearless, disdaining alike honor and reward. They believed that the Lord revealed certain things to them, and they were concerned only to speak truthfully what they believed to be the word of God (I Kings 22:14).

Elijah and his successor, Elisha, were the greatest prophets of the time, but there were other prophets of the same period who were equally honest, unselfseeking, and sincere.

Among these were Ahijah, who prophesied the rise to kingly power, and the downfall, of Jeroboam (I Kings 11:29-36, and 14:5-16), and Jehu, a prophet in the Kingdom of Judah, to whom references are made in I Kings 16:1, and in II Chronicles 19:2, and 20:34.

And there was Micahiah, a prophet of Israel, who appears in I Kings 22, and the almost identical chapter in II Chronicles 18.

But if the record concerning Micahiah is scant, in what a noble light he appears! King Ahab hated him because his prophecies were not pleasing, and he wanted to listen to 400 pleasant prophets, who assured him of victory against the Syrians.

But Jehoshaphat, his ally, King of Judah, wanted truth instead of the words of prophets who seem only anxious to please, so Ahab has to call Micahiah.

Standing against the false 400, Micahiah seemed at first to agree with them, apparently mocking the King. Then Micahiah gave the Kings the "what the Lord saith," which only he would speak.

Though prison awaited him his prophecy was of plain defeat and the scattering of the army of Israel in a battle in which Ahab was mortally wounded, though Jehoshaphat escaped.
